

Module 1: Introduction to Programming in Kotlin

I completed the Introduction to Programming in Kotlin training on Android Developers. I followed the lessons and practiced the basic Kotlin programming concepts. I wrote simple Kotlin programs and used `main()` and `println()` to display output. I also practiced using variables and functions. During the training, I ran the examples and exercises to check whether my code produced the correct output. After completing the learning activities, I completed the required assessment for the module.
